HUD HOUSING PROGRAMS: TENANTS' RIGHTS

HUD Housing Programs: Tenants' Rights: The Definitive Treatise on the Laws Governing HUD's Housing Programs

NHLP's HUD Housing Programs: Tenants' Rights (universally known as "the Green Book") is considered the bible on this issue by the broad spectrum of those involved with housing law: attorneys, legal scholars, students, housing providers, city planners, property managers and others.

With a user-friendly format, clear, concise explanations, and insightful legal analyses of a complex area of the law, the Green Book is the quintessential guide to understanding HUD's housing programs. The comprehensive materials contain information unavailable in legal research databases and include hard-to-find materials such as unpublished court decisions, HUD opinion letters, HUD memos and other useful information.

HUD Housing Programs: Tenants' Rights is authored by NHLP's attorneys, who are widely recognized as the nation's authorities on the laws governing HUD's housing programs. The authors hold decades of experience, advocating for housing policy reform and engaging in successful impact litigation from the grassroots level to the US Supreme Court, in legal work that has established and defined the rights of federally-assisted housing tenants.

The NHLP Green Book is an essential resource for all attorneys, new and experienced, working to preserve affordable housing and protect the rights of low-income tenants.

about the national housing law project

The mission of NHLP is to advance housing justice for low income people. Established in 1968, NHLP strives to increase and preserve the supply of decent, affordable housing; improve existing housing conditions; expand and enforce low-income tenants' and homeowners' rights; and increase housing opportunities for racial and ethnic minorities.

NHLP provides in-depth assistance, training, publications and research on the full spectrum of housing law and policy issues. The Housing Law Bulletin provides up-to-date analysis of new and changing housing regulations, laws, cases and policy trends. To purchase any of our publications or subscribe to the Bulletin, log onto www.nhlp.org or call 415.546.7000 x3111.
