The National Housing Law Project's HUD Housing Programs: Tenants' Rights (6th Edition)

The sixth edition of the National Housing Law Project's seminal publication, HUD Housing Programs: Tenants' Rights—universally known by housing advocates as “The Green Book”—is now available!

What is the Green Book?

First published in 1981, NHLP's signature publication, HUD Housing Programs: Tenants' Rights (“the Green Book”), is the quintessential guide to understanding HUD's programs. This advocates' manual includes new policies, emergent case law, and regulatory changes that shape the legal framework for cases that impact HUD tenants. The Green Book also contains unpublished court decisions, hard-to-find memos, and legal theories and strategies, providing an in-depth treatise on evictions, subsidy terminations, and affordable housing preservation. HUD Housing Programs: Tenants' Rights is authored by NHLP's attorneys, who are widely recognized as the singular authorities on the laws governing HUD's housing programs. The Green Book's treasury of information is the product of NHLP's history of more than 55 years of legal experience specifically focused on HUD housing law, decades of successful high-impact litigation establishing the rights of tenants, and a deep understanding of intricate federal housing policy. In fact, legislators and policymakers regularly rely on NHLP and the Green Book when crafting legislation related to the federal housing programs.

“I can’t imagine anyone approaching a problem involving low income housing without first consulting the Green Book. It’s a magisterial collection of knowledge.”

Florence Roisman | professor at Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law and founding member of the Housing Justice Network
